Johnny test susan mary

101 Johnnies is the first part of 20th episode and the 39th episode over all. Synopsis[] Johnny makes 100 robot clones to do his chores for him, but the clones become defective and start to multiply. Characters[] Johnny Test Dukey Mary Test Susan Test Hugh Test Robot Johnny Plot[] Johnny never takes responsibility for his actions so his father tells him to mow the lawn, which Johnny doesn't want to. He sees Susan and Mary robot clones and asks them to make him one. He said he would tell their father about the last invention if they didn't. When Johnny gets a robot to mow the lawn, he realizes that one robot can't do it alone so he cloned the robot once but didn't turn off the cloner so it ended up making 100 total copies. To make matters worse, because the machine made robot copies of a robot copy, the 100 robots are defective and don't follow commands. Their father is on the way home, so the kids try to get rid of the robots. They trick them by getting things Johnny likes to do. After getting them all, their father arrives. Seconds later they realize that they have the wrong Johnny, but the first robot Johnny. When Susan and Mary get the real Johnny out, he confesses saying that it was his fault. His father doesn't punish Johnny because he learned integrity and needs help with his chores too. Trivia[] This is the second time the term "I'm Johnny" is used. It is first used in Johnny Hollywood. The title reference is the 1961 Disney film 101 Dalmatians. When Hugh says he loves the kids, he sounds uncertain about loving Johnny, indicating a secret hatred for Johnny. This is the first time any evidence of this secret hatred has surfaced. This episode could've been a reference to The Simpsons Treehouse of Horror XIII plot. Send in the Clones. A scene where clone Johnny breaks out the roof is used as a flashback in the episode Johnnynitis. Running Gag-Characters screaming in horror whenever something goes wrong (ex. Hugh screaming in the beginning when he found out Johnny got a C in Social Studies (before Johnny pins the blame on him and Lila for "not raising him better"), finding out he didn't brush his teeth (before Johnny pins the blame on Susan and Mary because they were in the bathroom when they needed to use it), farting in the diner table and blaming Dukey, forgetting to mow the lawn resuting to the grass growing, the flashback where the gigantic Johnny shot lasers throughout his eyes all over Porkbelly, the Test kids and Dukey freaking out after being informed by the machine that Johny launched out 100 robot clones of him, and Hugh for the last time as he found out there were tons of robot Johnnies unleashed. The Johnny robots saying "I'm Johnny". Voiced by Brittney Wilson(Seasons 1 & 5) Ashleigh Ball (Seasons 2-4 & 6) Laurie Hymes (Web Series) Emily Tennant (Seasons 7-8) Marionette Louise "Mary" Test is one of the two tritagonists of Johnny Test. She is the older twin sister of Susan Test and the oldest of the test siblings she is also the older sister of Johnny Test Personality Mary is a super-genius twin sister of Susan and the older sister of Johnny. Like her sister, Mary harbors affection for the next-door neighbor Gil Nexdor, and attends school at the Porkbelly Institute of Technology (a.k.a Porkbelly Tech). The two are rarely (if ever) seen acting independently of each other, and work best in union due to their shared high IQ. Despite their similarities, Mary is more open-minded than Susan, but much less outspoken. While Susan sticks strictly to facts and realistic science, Mary is open to more hypothetical sciences such as extraterrestrials and cryptids, which often incites Susan's skepticism. Mary is also on somewhat better terms with their brother, due to her marginally higher empathy, though she is also highly prone to following Susan's more headstrong attitude she is 1 minutes older than her sister Susan Appearance Mary has long curly red hair tied in a high ponytail and green eyes inherited from her mother. Her style of dress is very casual, especially compared to her sister's preppy style. She wears a pastel yellow shirt with a moon design, blue jeans, olive green sneakers with a moon design, white lab coat and a moon hairclip. Like her sister, she requires glasses to see, but she wears stylized frames with pointed tips. For formal occasions, she typically wears a light blue dress with a magenta belt and flats. Relationships Susan Sister Mary and Susan have a strong sisterly relationship, both being geniuses with many shared goals. As twins, Mary can often read Susan's mind (like "twin telepathy"). Mary and Susan do almost anything together, like staring at Gil (their biggest crush), or supervising new experiments in their lab. However, despite their relationship, they can bicker when it comes to their differences. Being the more soft-spoken sister, Mary often lets Susan do the talking for her between the two of them. Mary and Susan both recognize each other's desire to become Gil's boyfriend will at one point cause them to come to blows as to which of them will be the one, though they both agree to deal with this when the time comes (if ever.) Johnny Brother Like her sister, Mary cares for her little brother, but is not above using him as a test subject for their various experiments. Mary is however slightly more inclined to help Johnny in his various antics, shows more patience with him than Susan, and is quick to come to his aid when her sister won't. Despite this, she is just as often frustrated with Johnny's ill-thought-out escapades and requests for scientific help. Hugh Father Like the rest of their family, Mary loves her father, but hates his meat loaf and his constant punishments for supervising experiments. (He is also known to beat the kids, someone call cps) Lila Mother Lila and Mary have a solid mother-daughter relationship, although the two are not seen interacting much due to the former's busy day-job and the latter's frequent lab time. Gil Love Interest (one sided) Like Susan, Mary has been in love with Gil since they were all little children. The infatuation is is very surface level, as Gil is demonstrably attractive, but very short on brains and awareness, not even recognizing the twins' open infatuation with him, or that they've been neighbors since kindergarten. Unlike Susan, Mary is more openly frustrated about Gil's lack of intelligence, and openly calls him out on this to no avail. Despite this, the twins will go to absurd lengths for Gil's attention, even if it involves forcing Gil into loving them against his will. Bling-Bling Boy Mary is constantly annoyed by Bling-Bling Boy's constant interruptions to her and Susan's life due to his crush on her sister, but otherwise seems to have no opinion of him. When Bling-Bling Boy was briefly brainwashed into falling in love with her instead, Mary responded with complete and utter horror. Powers Telekinesis ("Johnny X Strikes Back") Trivia Alongside Susan, her catchphrase is "We're such geniuses". She and Susan are very ticklish, as was shown in "Johnny vs. The Tickler". She and Susan are revealed to suffer from plantar hyperhidrosis, "stinky feet", in "Johnny Unplugged". Despite being considered twins with Susan, Mary is the oldest child in the Test family. So far in the series, Mary has never had any episodes primarily dedicated to her, unlike most of the other characters on the show. Mary has had the most voice acted changes of any character featured in the show. In Johnny's Treasure, it is stated that Mary can play the flute while Johnny and Dukey revealed she was a "Band Dork". The Quantum of Johnny and Future Johnny are the only episodes she doesn't appear in According to one of Johnny Test writers on 4chan, there was supposed to be an episode about Brain Freezer and Mary, however this episode was scrapped.
