Family Feud Contestants Provide the Most Absurd Wrong Answers Steve's reaction to Rell's answer is priceless as he points out his son in the audience. The contestant was confident but his guess was met with disappointment from the host. Steve has also faced harsh criticism for contestants' wrong answers in the past, including one where a man guessed the president would want to know if someone uses Viagra. Steve Harvey's rise to fame as the host of Family Feud is an inspiring story. During an emotional interview on Hoda Kotb's Making Space podcast, he shared his struggles, including winning $50 at his first try at stand-up comedy in 1985 and becoming homeless for three years while pursuing a career in comedy. Steve has since achieved great success, making over $10 million per year hosting the show. Fans online have expressed their amusement with Family Feud's witty responses, particularly Steve Harvey's reactions to ridiculous answers. The show's popularity can be attributed to its unique survey-based premise and the opportunity for contestants to showcase their personalities. Steve believes that the key to the show's success lies in his ability to deliver what he thinks is on everyone's mind, often leaving contestants' answers sounding "dumb enough to not be on nobody's board." The article has compiled a list of 131 funny Family Feud questions and answers, guaranteed to bring laughter. Get ready to turn your game nights into unforgettable memories! Family Feud is an exciting game where two teams compete to guess the most popular answers to survey questions, with five rounds of play. The game features a mix of multiple-choice and fill-in-the-blank questions, plus a face-off question where team reps try to give the most popular answer. The winning team tries to accumulate points by guessing answers on the board, with three strikes allowing the opposing team to steal points. The first team to reach 300 points wins! Afterward, two team members compete in the Fast Money round to score 200 points or more and win a cash prize. To play Family Feud like the actual game show, you can use just a few items: PowerPoint, ClassPoint, and Family Feud questions and answers. With these tools, you can create an interactive board, invite participants to respond using Word Cloud and Fill-in-the-Blanks quiz buttons, and reveal each answer as it's guessed. You can even record scores automatically and display the winners! Randomly selecting the "ADD SPELLING ERRORS (SE)" method with a 40% probability.
